

HOLLY PESTER

Bog Buttered Thoughts on Abortivity

Saturday 27 January 2018
Live poetry reading and talk 7pm
Open 6-9pm

OUTPOST

Pester will read poems from a work-in-progress collection, mixed with shared research anecdotes and articles from her study on abortivity. Following from Simone Weil's decreation - 'to make something created pass into the uncreated', and a Godded withdrawal of the self - this project makes soulful work of endings by figuring: sacrificial burials and plotted substance; their particular decompositions and preservations; a lover's ekstaticly aborted subjectivity and her ready rest/lessness.

Holly Pester is a poet, researcher and educator. She is mostly based in London and has books and artefacts published by Book Works and Test Centre, with poems featured in The White Review, The Believer online, and Poetry Review.

<https://logger.believmag.com/post/holly-pester>
www.hollypester.com

OUTPOST

10b Wensum Street, Norwich, NR3 1HR, UK
questions@norwichoutpost.org | www.norwichoutpost.org
+44 (0)1603 612 428 | Charity Number 1165944

Supported using public funding by
ARTS COUNCIL
ENGLAND